A fine day to enjoy the resource

Thirteen proved lucky for participants in the 13th annual Fall Foliage Flotilla held Saturday on the Androscoggin River between Gilead and Bethel. It was still a bit early for dramatic fall color, but the weather was clear and warm, and the winds calm — perfect for a leisurely paddle. Here Sue Lincoln of Bethel, coordinator of the annual Androscoggin River Source to the Sea Canoe Trek, chats with Jay Espy of Freeport, president of the Maine Coast Heritage Trust. Espy and daughter Hannah were joined by more than a dozen other participants. Also on the river Saturday were groups from the Telstar High School Wellness Program, Mead Corp., Great Glen Trails, Mahoosuc Mountain Guide Service and from Rumford.

MDOT to discuss signal at Rt. 2 and Parkway

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The accidents are mounting, but numbers don't add up to a traffic light, according to the Maine Department of Transportation.

The state agency is, however, withholding a final judgment on whether or not to install a traffic light at the locally infamous intersection of the Parkway and Route 2.

Since the intersection came into service the weekend before Thanksgiving 1995, it has been the scene of 18 reported accidents, half involving personal injury. In one collision there a Bethel Police Department cruiser was totaled.

The worst accident took place last week and resulted in the intersection's first fatality, long-time Bethel resident Phyllis Dock.

In terms of number of accidents it is the second worst location in town, behind — by some distance — the "S curves" on the Sunday River Road, according to Bethel Police Chief Darren Tripp.

But, Tripp added, the accidents at the S curves tend to involve only a single vehicle and seldom result in serious personal injury.

Local residents and town officials have been critical since the beginning of the Parkway intersection's design (see drawing, page 2).

That layout brings together traffic flowing in from three directions, two of which have two lanes; and it is further complicated by entrances and exits of businesses located either at or very near the intersection — including the busy Rite Aid Pharmacy, which opened in June 1998.

To add to the confusion, much of the traffic at the intersection consists of tourists who are unfamiliar with its layout. And for the unfamiliar, it is easy to misread the traffic flow — for example, by mistaking the westbound Route 2 lane for a single, rather than double, lane.

BTUs dear this year

By ALISON ALOISIO

"BTU" is a measure of the heat generated by the various fuels used to keep our homes warm in the winter. It also describes our local fuel dealers, who are Busier Than Usual.

From oil dealers rushing to clean furnaces, to firewood dealers hurrying to cut wood, to building suppliers selling more insulation, local heat-related businesses are trying to meet the needs of customers concerned about the cost of heating.

Oil and gas

With the price of heating oil 40 to 50 cents higher than this time last year, and New England inventories down, dealers who sell locally are doing all they can to reassure customers.

Jeri Greenwell of Brooks Bros. in Bethel said her company is getting mixed indications about the availability of oil supplies. She's asking people to "just trust us to do the best for our customers," she said.

Because of the national attention given the oil shortage, Greenwell said, most of Brooks' customers are understanding of the price situation. They're not accusing the local dealers of trying to gouge customers.

New England inventories of distillate fuel oil, used for production of heating oil, were reported down to 5.6 million barrels for the week of Sept. 22, compared to 16.9 million barrels a year ago.

Higher education is closer now than ever

By REBECCA ZICARELLI

The College for Lifelong Learning (CLL) commenced classes at Sunday River Ski Resort Sept. 11, with 19 students enrolled. The program is designed to attract young, college-bound skiers, but it has proven to be a greater draw for local residents (it's open to the public) and Sunday River employees.

The program opened with five courses: Critical Thinking, Principles of Management, Introduction to Sociology, the Natural History of Northern New England, and Software Tools. All classes are being held at Sunday River's new River House training facility, located behind South Ridge Lodge, except for Software Tools, which is being held at Crescent Park School.

Critical Thinking Skills, with an enrollment of 11, is a prerequisite for most of the other classes in the program. According to instructor Brooke Libby of Bethel, "The course is designed as training for the rigorous thinking, reading, and writing expected in all other CLL courses."

The course has a heavy homework load, but the students love it. Monday evenings find the students embarked on three hours of problem solving, reading discussion, and writing critique.

Problem solving is like game playing. Using one of the required text, "Problem Solving and Comprehension," by Whimbey and Lockhead, the students work in groups on problems like, "You are facing east. You turn to face the opposite direction, and then you turn 90 degrees to the

Jeep Jam parade Saturday

By ALISON ALOISIO

The 10th annual Jeep Jamboree comes to Bethel today, with 135 jeeps expected.

A parade down Main Street is scheduled for 9 a.m. Saturday.

The national jamboree travels to 35 different locations each year for regional gatherings, usually with a different group of jeeps represented at each stop. The Bethel jamboree will attract members from across the country, according to Doug Wilson of the local Western Maine Mountain Jeepers.

Wilson helps provide local coordination for the jamboree, which is based at the Bethel Inn when it comes to town.

TOWN, NEIGHBOR WILL PAY TO TEAR DOWN TRAILER

Bethel selectmen and neighbor Charles Stevens will pool their resources to pay to tear down this Mechanic Street trailer owned by Don Parker. The arrangement is at the request of Parker, who said he is trying to sell the house (right) located on the same property but has no money to remove the trailer. Both the house and trailer are currently uninhabited, and their utilities have been shut off. The town will pay $400, Stevens $300, to have the trailer torn down and the debris and other unwanted articles on the property disposed of. In approving the arrangement Monday, the selectmen expressed concern over establishing the precedent of the town paying to improve the property of a private landowner, but they concluded the "attractive-nuisance" danger posed by the trailer justified taking the action.

ALBANY PLANTATION MEETING

To the Editor:
Although the citizens of Albany have so far been successful in their efforts to block the building of the proposed Passamaquoddy Tribe bingo hall, we find ourselves at a critically important moment.

Over the last few weeks there has been much talk about Albany becoming a plantation as a way to insure that the bingo hall never gets built. In an effort to examine the many issues this change would pose, and to decide if we should have a vote this coming election day, there will be a meeting Oct. 15 at 3 p.m. in the Albany's Community Hall, (formerly the old Grange Hall).

This is a citizen-sponsored meeting. All Albany residents, taxpayers, registered voters and any other interested and/or informed people are invited to attend.

Whether someone agrees with this approach or not, it is vitally important that they participate in this very big decision.

I urge everyone to attend and be heard.

Pamela Chodosh

THANKS, UNTIL WE MEET AGAIN

To the Editor:
As I slowly rode to the little white church behind the horse-drawn carriage, it was as if Phyl were saying to me, "Slow down, Sue, look at this beautiful village of Bethel that we live in. How lucky we are to be here." I saw things I had never taken time to see before. My annual ride on Intervale Road was a fast trip back and forth to get corn at Buck's farm.

My radio seemed to appreciate the occasion and was playing lovely classical music, the kind Phyl loved to play in her beautiful home. Then lo and behold, as I slowly drove along, there in a field were four handsome horses prancing and dancing as they bid Phyl a happy journey to her new home.

I'm grateful to Phyl for another reason. She was instrumental in encouraging me to pursue my dream of getting a bachelor's degree. She suggested I look into the Lifelong Learning programs at the University of Maine, which I did. So again, Phyl, thanks, till we meet again.

REMEMBERING PHYLLIS DOCK

To the Editor:
The death last week of Phyllis Davis Dock removed from our midst a Bethel citizen who contributed much to her community, from serving on the school board, to helping save the Middle Intervale Meeting House, to sharing her musical talents with others. Phyllis never, however, quite conformed to all of society's expectations, and as the song goes, "she did it her way."

I always enjoyed talking with her and found her thinking refreshing. We had many chats through the years and worked closely in the publication of her father's memoirs in the Bethel Historical Society's quarterly. She also served on the society's Publications Committee, where her views were widely respected.

Fate dealt Phyllis some tough blows, probably none tougher than the untimely death of her son. But she seemed to come through this devastating experience wiser and stronger. It was a remarkable transformation and she used it to help others deal with their losses.

For years, Phyllis was one of four 1930's Gould Academy graduates who met regularly for lively discussions of the past and present. They called themselves "the frisky four." I remember several times referring a variety of historical questions to this group, who frequently solved some difficult historical riddles.

Phyllis participated in a number of courses offered by the Historical Society and Adult Education that I either coordinated or taught. It was usually interesting to get her "slant" on the topic of conversation at any one particular moment, since her thinking was often unconventional and therefore stimulating. She never hesitated to tilt any windmills that she felt needed tilling.

Phyllis and my father were avid cribbage players. How they loved the game, and it is comforting to know that they are now together plotting their next game.

I will always remember Phyllis as a kind, generous and loving member of the community, who lived her beliefs and was dedicated to continuous learning. Her remarkable example should be an inspiration for those who knew her for many years to come.

DEROUCHE

To the Editor:
As election time nears, I am writing to my friends and neighbors about a man whom I feel will make a difference in our River Valley communities if we vote for him on Nov. 7 for state senator.

As president of the River Valley Chamber of Commerce, I have had the pleasure of working with Joe Deroche on many occasions and continue to work with him through the River Valley Growth Council.

Joe has worked hard for the River Valley in revitalizing the area with economic growth and hometown pride. Joe has been a driving force in making the River Valley area more attractive and inviting for industry to come into our area.

With his positive attitude and in-depth knowledge of the area that he lives and works in, Joe is a perfect choice for our state senator.

He knows what this area needs for us to grow and prosper and he's not afraid to fight for us in making our River Valley a better place to live and work.

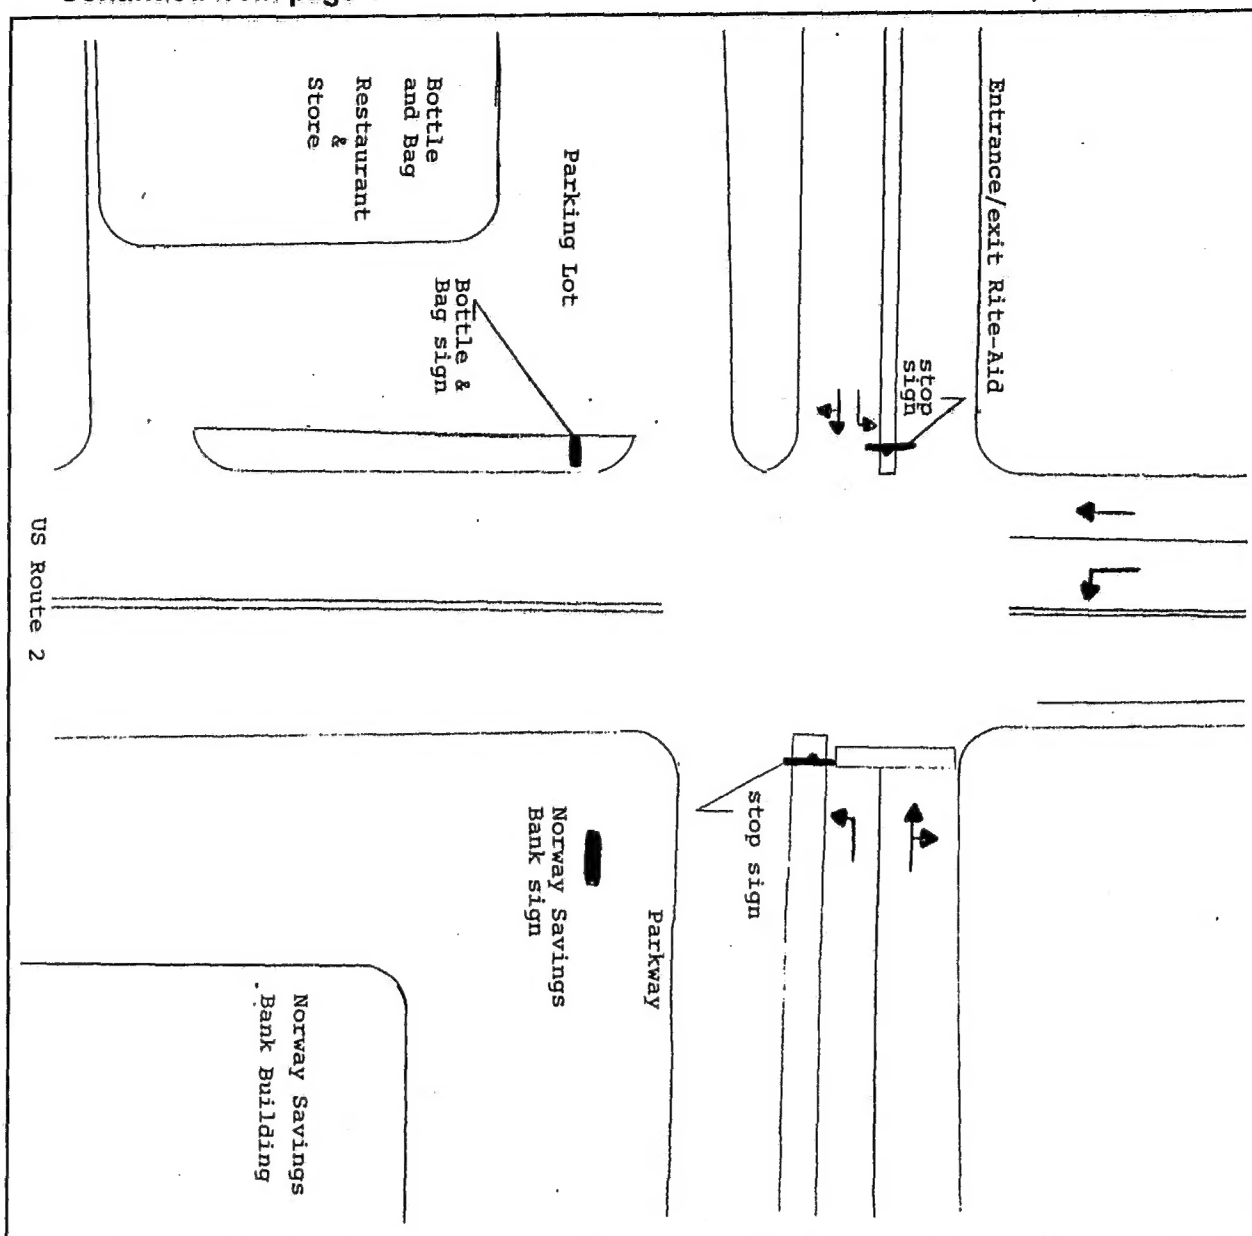

Joe Deroche has already made a positive difference in the River Valley and will continue to do so.

Please join me on Nov. 7 and vote for Joe Deroche as our next state senator.

Intersection

THE ROUTE 2/PARKWAY INTERSECTION, from a Bethel Police Department accident form. There have been 18 reported accidents at the intersection since it opened in November, 1995. The frequency of accidents increased following the opening of Rite Aid Pharmacy in June, 1998.

"There's way too much information for the human mind to process, especially in the time available," Tripp said.

Many others have called for a traffic light to be installed at the intersection, others for redesigning it, at least to the extent of moving the business curb cuts away from the intersection itself.

"I'm not happy about the whole situation," Selectman Al Barth said Monday evening. "It's a badly designed intersection, a disaster waiting to happen, and unfortunately that disaster has happened."

Hoping to forestall such disasters, town selectmen have repeatedly approached MDOT, asking for engineers to restudy the intersection and determine if a traffic light is warranted.

The latest request came in September 1999 letter, in which Town Manager Scott Cole wrote: "The selectmen's concern stems from ongoing experience with traffic delays and minor accidents in this area, particularly in the winter months."

Cole also noted that when the Planning Board approved the Rite Aid project, one of the conditions of approval required the company to contribute toward the cost of a traffic signal. (That money would be added to money already escrowed for a signal by the developers of Bethel Station.)

It was a year before MDOT responded, and then only to say that a traffic count had been authorized.

"MDOT concedes the request has stagnated, despite numerous calls from the town," Cole told the selectmen Monday.

He said the state has now conducted "an initial numerical analysis," and that study appears to indicate a traffic light is not warranted.

But further review of the data is needed before MDOT will come to a final decision, he said.

MDOT Traffic Engineer Bruce Ibarra is scheduled to appear before the town selectmen at their next meeting, Oct. 14, to discuss the situation, Cole said.

Jeepers

Bethel is a popular stop, he said, because of its old homes, scenic views and foliage this time of year. Jeepers head out on local trails, with permission of landowners, for sightseeing. They are guided by about 20 volunteers, mostly from Maine and New Hampshire.

Increasing numbers of retirees are joining the sport, Wilson said. They can often be seen driving RVs hauling jeeps behind.

After the jamboree, local volunteers make sure trails are left in good shape. "The landowners are happy," Wilson said. "We take very good care of them."

Until 1998, jamborees took place in both the spring and fall. After the ice storm canceled the spring event in that year, however, organizers decided to hold it only in the fall.

"It's less of an impact on the environment," Wilson said.

NEW PATROLMAN—Dean Benson, right, was recently hired as a patrol officer with the Bethel Police Department. He has completed a 100-hour course at the Maine Criminal Justice Academy, and is scheduled to attend the academy in 2001. Benson, a Telstar High School graduate, served in the U.S. Army and most recently a corrections officer at the Oxford County Jail. He is shown here with officer Nate Wight, who became a full-time patrolman in July.

Police log

Saturday, Sept. 30

At 12:40 a.m. police observed a vehicle operating left of the center line on Route 2. The officer stopped the vehicle and found the operator's license was conditional. An odor of liquor could be detected. The subject admitted to drinking a beer. He was given field sobriety tests and did not complete them successfully. He was then taken to the Police Department, where an intoxilizer test was given. Robert Lausier, 31, was summonsed for OUI.

At 5:29 p.m. police observed a vehicle operating on Main Street, the driver of which was known to have had her right to operate suspended. The officer confirmed that with dispatch, then took the subject into custody. She was found to have been drinking in the vehicle, but not under the influence. Brenda L. Taylor, 31, of Bethel was taken to the Oxford County Jail and given summonses for operating after suspension and consuming alcohol while operating a motor vehicle.

Briefly

Woodstock valuation explained

WOODSTOCK—A $2.5-million increase in Woodstock's state valuation is attributable to a large number of real estate sales in 1998 and 1999, Town Manager Vern Maxfield told selectmen Tuesday. Maxfield checked with Mike Rogers of Maine Revenue Services after selectmen questioned the recently-released valuation of $67,550,000. The real estate sales included "more sales on the water than ever," said Maxfield. Selectmen plan to ask Rogers to meet with them for a more specific explanation of the increase.

Dam plans uncertain

GREENWOOD—Town Manager Carol Whitman said the owner of the Alder River Dam expects to know next week what his plans for the dam will be. Whitman said owner Duane Gilbert is awaiting advice from his attorney. The dam is located next to Gilbert Manufacturing, formerly owned by Gilbert. Saunders Brothers of Westbrook, the company that purchased the business, did not buy the dam. The dam was inspected in 1998, and it was recommended several repairs be made within a year. That work has not yet been done. Selectman Kenneth Roberts said it would be in the best interest of Greenwood and Woodstock to have Greenwood take over control of the dam, which controls waters in North, South and Round ponds.

Voters to consider bank offer

WEST PARIS—A special Town Meeting is scheduled for today (Thursday) to consider whether to accept the former Oxford Bank & Trust building, which has been offered to the town by Peoples Heritage Bank of Maine. The building is valued at $85,000. If voters approve, selectmen will have the power to negotiate to bring another bank to West Paris. Oxford Bank & Trust, a division of Peoples, closed here last April. The meeting begins at 7 p.m.

BHS receives grant

BETHEL—The Bethel Historical Society has received a $15,000 grant from the Dean L. Fisher Charitable Foundation of Portland. The funds will assist in the transformation of the 1821 Robinson House, a National Register property on Broad Street, to a state-of-the-art historical museum facility. To date, nearly $500,000 has been raised from more than 400 individuals, corporations and foundations toward the $1 million goal.

Sunday River makes snow

NEWRY—Sunday River Ski Resort made the first Maine snow of the season last week when the resort tested its snowmaking system. Snowmaking began at 3 a.m. Friday and continued to 7 a.m. Several snowboarders and skiers carved the first turns of the season. Sunday River added 30 new tower guns on its White Heat trail for this season. Opening day is scheduled for Nov. 4, if conditions permit.

Woodland Cemetery Co. to meet

BETHEL—A special meeting of the Woodland Cemetery Company will take place Monday, Oct. 9 at Stan Howe's house (18 Broad Street), beginning at 7 p.m. Anyone interested in the cemetery is urged to attend.

Fall Festival Weekend

NEWRY—The annual Fall Festival Weekend will take place Oct. 7-8 at Sunday River Ski Resort. Activities will include a crab feast, the Blue Mountain Arts and Crafts Festival, Summit Challenge foot race, chairlift rides, tent sale, Adventure Center and job fair.

Cocaine, marijuana seized

NORWAY—Maine drug agents confiscated $147,000 worth of cocaine and marijuana, along with scales and guns, from the home of a Norway man. Joel Keene was charged with aggravated drug trafficking. Keene was arrested during a 4:15 a.m. raid by agents and officers from the Maine Drug Enforcement Agency, the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency and the Oxford County Sheriff's Department. Agents seized two pounds of cocaine and 70 pounds of marijuana, along with $4,156 in cash, scales and records, and six firearms, according to a statement from the Maine Department of Public Safety. Keene, 46, was held on $100,000 bail at the Oxford County Jail. He is scheduled to be arraigned in South Paris District Court Nov. 29. A companion, Pamela Pirainen, 42, was arrested because she had a small amount of cocaine with her, agents said. She was released on $500 bail after being charged.

MVHS changes graduation date

RUMFORD—The SAD43 School Board voted Monday to move the Mountain Valley High School graduation from the traditional Sunday to Saturday, June 9 at 4 p.m. The change will be permanent. The switch was requested by staff and Project Graduation organizers so that more teachers can serve as chaperones for Project Graduation. The change would also encourage better attendance and decrease behavior problems following graduation, according to principal Tom Rowe.

Grant will support teen shelter

RUMFORD—Homeless teens in Oxford County will soon have a place to stay for up to six months, while they look for permanent housing and employment. A $4,000 grant from the Maine Community Foundation's Oxford County Fund will assist the Rumford Group Home in opening a three-bed homeless youth center. In addition to providing teens with food and shelter, the shelter will help them find jobs, stay in school, and look for more permanent places to live. Currently, there is no shelter for children under 18 in Oxford County.

Night visit at wildlife park

GRAY—The Maine Wildlife Park is sponsoring the last public program of the season with a final "Night Visit" on Friday, Oct. 13th. The park will be open to the public for a night walk between 6 and 8 p.m. so visitors can view wildlife by full moon light. A flashlight covered with red cellophane is recommended. Volunteer guides will be stationed at several locations around the park to talk about the animals' night life. There is no rain date for the event.

AVCOG to study workforce

AUGUSTA—The Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments has teamed up with the Center for Business and Economic Research at the University of Southern Maine to conduct the first-ever comprehensive analysis of the Western Border Region Labor Market. The project is collecting information from both households and employers using phone and mail surveys, respectively. Data concerning the current patterns of pay and benefits, the skills of the workforce, and issues surrounding recruiting workers in Maine companies will be collected and summaries will be made available on the Internet. When complete, the project will use the data to prepare analyses of the labor force characteristics in each of 17 survey regions and for the state as a whole.

Tree ID guidebook offered

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb.—A pocket guide for identifying trees is available free from the National Arbor Day Foundation. The guide includes 135 trees found in the eastern and central U.S., including oaks, maples, spruces and pines. To obtain a guide, send name and address to "What Tree is That?" The National Arbor Day Foundation, Nebraska City, NE 68410.

From the Bethel Police Log:

Should have stayed on the scene

At 10:25 p.m. on Sept. 30 police observed a subject strike a parked vehicle near the common and make no attempt to investigate the damage or notify the driver. The subject was stopped when she attempted to leave. The damage was found to be a scratched bumper and broken plate bracket. Diane M. Porter, 59, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was issued a summons for failure to notify owner/operator of an unattended vehicle of a collision. Her information was placed on the windshield, because the owner could not be located.

Tuesday, Sept. 26

At 1:40 p.m. a town employee reported his estranged girlfriend was causing a disturbance in his office and refused to leave the building. The officer confronted her and after being told several times to leave, she did depart.

At 1:45 p.m. a Main Street business reported a subject had entered and began screaming statements about the conduct of her estranged boyfriend. After being confronted by employees, she departed.

Thursday, Sept. 28

At 11:51 p.m. police observed a vehicle making a wide radius turn onto Vernon Street. When the officer followed, it accelerated to a high rate of speed. He stopped the vehicle, and could smell an odor of intoxicating liquor. The driver admitted to speeding and drinking. She did not pass field sobriety tests. Donna M. Corriveau, 44, was arrested for operating under the influence and was taken to the Police Department for an intoxilizer test. She was then taken to the Oxford County Jail.

Friday, Sept. 29

At 10:35 p.m. police clocked a vehicle heading east on Route 2 at 78 mph in a 45 mph zone. The officer stopped the subject, and issued a summons to Chad William Burlingame, 19.

BTUs

The Maine Oil Dealers Association said in a recent statement, however, that "Maine is in a unique position regarding supply, as Portland is the third largest oil port on the Eastern Seaboard, and together with Searsport and Bucksport has the supply capability to serve not only Maine but portions of other New England states as well."

Greenwell said Brooks is currently very busy with furnace maintenance, but she's not certain how much of it comes from people trying to make their system more efficient because of the high price of fuel.

The high price is a definite factor in C.N. Brown customers signing on for price cap and pre-buy programs, according to John Pinto, company spokesman. Brown's bought seven million gallons of oil that is currently in storage, he said. Throughout the summer, customers have pre-bought specific amounts of oil at prices that changed weekly, he said. The program, he said, has been "very successful."

Other customers on automatic delivery had the option of capping their cost at a certain price during the summer, he said.

As for natural gas supplies, Alan Bontaites, Maingas Fryeburg branch manager, said his suppliers are telling him it's "a little tight. We're told to keep our storage facilities as full as we can all the time."

Gas prices are up about 30 percent over last year. Like Greenwell's customers, Bontaites said, his have generally been understanding of the situation.

Wood in demand

Some people are looking at other alternatives for heating their homes this winter. D.A. Wilson of Greenwood sells firewood on a small scale, according to Doug Wilson. This year, he said, "We're getting a lot of elderly people calling for one or two cords, cut and split. We never got those calls before. They want it for security."

Wilson said his company is trying to make sure the older residents' requests are taken care of first, and is generally "trying to keep ahead" of the overall demand. Other homeowners who already heat with wood are saying they plan to use more this winter, he said.

Wilson charges $130 a cord for wood that is cut, split and dried.

In Gilead, Beverly Corriveau's family sells kindling wood in the form of blocks and shims bought from Bethel Furniture Stock. "We have half again as many orders as compared to last year," she said. "We're backed up about 25 people on the waiting list."

The Corriveaus have increased their wood prices because of increases in the cost of vehicle fuel, she said, but the wood is still "selling like hotcakes."

In addition to generating more volume, customers ordered earlier this year, she said, "and I've already got people on the list for next year."

Statewide, wood burners are being cautioned to check the quality of the wood they purchase. Softwood and green wood can build up creosote inside chimneys faster than dry hardwood does.

Prices for a cord of seasoned wood may range to more than $130 a cord in some areas. (In Massachusetts, prices range from as low as $120 in rural areas to more than $200 in Boston.)

Buttoning up

Of course, there are ways to reduce the number of BTUs you'll be using, and dollars you'll be spending on them, this winter.

At Western Maine Supply in Bethel, people are coming in to find out what else they can do to better insulate their homes, according to owner Frank Lowell.

"I've heard comments, 'I've got to check my weather stripping,'" said Lowell. Sales of insulation are up some now, he said, but he expects them to increase even more when it gets colder and reality sets in for a long winter's night.

west. Which direction is now on your left side?"

The students are performing mental-stretching exercises, getting ready for the gymnastics of a college education.

Learning to read critically, to think critically, and to write critically are the goals of the class. For many students, the effort has already begun to pay off.

Luci White works in Condo Management at Sunday River. "I have started to prioritize differently," she said. "I think about what the problem is now, and how I'm going to attack it."

White is grateful for the opportunity to pursue a degree while at work. "I haven't ever been to college," she said. "When they offered college right here, I thought I'd try it. I don't have to go home and worry about my kid being upset with me for going back out the door."

Opening the door to education

The convenience of having a degree program offered locally encouraged many of the participants to enroll. The students in the Critical Thinking class reflected on that convenience during their break.

"I was just ecstatic about it," said Angela Rich, who works with White in condo management. "Last year, the closest programs were in Farmington. Going to college meant moving away, and that was not for me."

"Then they came up with this idea. We waited all summer, hoping. Is it going to be here? Will there be enough people?"

There turned out to be enough people enrolled, and Rich's dream of higher education close to home came true.

Amy Chapman of Gould Academy feels the convenience of the program is critical. "The only way it could be easier is if they came and taught at my kitchen table," she said.

A recruiting tool

Chip Seamans, Sunday River managing director, hoped the program would prove to be a powerful recruiting tool. College-bound students could work at the mountain during the winter season, and take courses full-time in the spring, summer and fall, to earn either an associate's degree in business management or a bachelor's degree in management.

While two of the students enrolled in the program fit the traditional college-bound profile, local workers with an eye toward a brighter future make up the bulk of the student body. They range from Sunday River construction workers, housekeeping staff, and office workers to a local business owner. They plan to attend college part time.

These part-time students are taking one, or perhaps two, classes on top of full-time jobs and family responsibilities.

The agreement between Sunday River and CLL calls for some specialization in the courses offered to meet the training needs of Sunday River and American Ski Company (ASC).

A great opportunity

Lisa Jaques of ASC marketing said, "I'm very impressed. I didn't know what to expect. I've taken some adult ed classes, and I was afraid these wouldn't be college level. They are definitely college level." Jaques hopes the program continues to grow, with more local people taking advantage of it. "It is a great opportunity," she said.

Tammy Holmes, executive housekeeper at the Jordan Grand Hotel, is another student who is thankful for the opportunity. "I started out as a housekeeper here ten years ago. I thought it was great that Sunday River gave me room to grow into a management position. Now, I'm looking at a job here that requires an associate's degree, and Sunday River is helping me to go further, with the opportunity of getting that job."

Besides Critical Thinking, Holmes is also taking Software Tools. The burden of two classes on top of working full-time is tough, but she sees a benefit to her job skills already. "The Software Tools has made doing presentations for my staff easier," she said.

Three other members of the Jordan Grand housekeeping staff considered joining the program with Holmes. "Because of home schedules, they opted to wait," she said. "But since I've been going, they've been watching me. They're getting more excited about it, and plan on enrolling in the spring."

"A lot of other employees at Sunday River have been asking me questions, and thinking about the program," Holmes added. She expects to see an increased enrollment in the spring semester, but not for the busy winter season.

The CLL courses offered at Sunday River are four-credit courses and cost $286 a credit, or $744 for each course. This is the nonresident rate for the University of New Hampshire.

One of the draws for Sunday River employees is the tuition reimbursement package that helps offset the cost of tuition.

A number of other local employers also have tuition reimbursement programs that can help pay the cost of CLL courses.

A new semester will start in January, with three courses offered. The spring semester, beginning in April, will see six course offerings. For more information on the program, including financial aid, contact Deb Piccirillo at 824-5902, 527-2443, or at fdj@megalink.net.

Bethel

by
Virginia Keniston

Hi and Mary Lou Berry entertained company from Massachusetts, Marion Todesca of Roslindale and three days last week.

Randy Bennett, George and Danna Nickerson and Dean and Priscilla Walker recently enjoyed a trip on the Conway Scenic Railroad Notch Train. Starting from the North Conway Station, the train travels through the spectacular scenery of Crawford Notch to Fabyan Station, crossing Frankenstein Trestle and the Willey Brook Bridge, and makes a brief stop at the historic Crawford Depot.

Mrs. Libby Bane spent the weekend in Palmyra. While there, she celebrated her 80th birthday with her son and wife, Doug and Sue Bane; granddaughters, Mrs. Jessica Robert and children, Jacob and Sadie, and Megan McLaughlin of Derry, N.H. She also received a telephone call from her grandson, PH3 Justin Bane, who is serving aboard the USS Harry S. Truman, Newport News, Va.

The Bethel community was saddened last week by the untimely death of Phyllis Davis Dock, due to injuries sustained in an automobile accident. Many friends and relatives attended her funeral services at the Middle Intervale Meeting House. Interment was in the cemetery nearby. Her children from away, daughters Gretchen Dock of Boston and Nancy Dock of San Diego, Calif., and sons, Stephen and wife Carolyn Wilson of Greenville, N.C. and Roger and wife Susanna of Glastonbury, Conn., and his two sons were here to be with their dad, Norman.

C. Rodney Wentzell of Mt. Pleasant, S.C. has been visiting his sister and husband, Mary and Robert Eichel at their cottage on Songo Pond. Brother Erland Wentzell also visited over the Gould Academy Alumni Weekend and attended the luncheon on Saturday.

Llona K. Meaux's Class of 1960 celebrated their 40th reunion at Gould Academy with a Saturday evening reception at L'Auberge. Former Bethel students who returned were Donald Christie, Gray; Michael and Penny Davis Hathaway, Conway, N.H.; Judith Harrington Smith and Dawson, Surrey; Dorothy Kimball Adams and Herbie, Hanover; Nancy Lincoln, Bethel; Barbara Mundt Walsh and John, Portland; Douglas Rice and Sandra, Guilford, Conn.; Donna Smith Bernard and James, Andover; Lawrence Sprague and Starla, Pleasant Hill, Ore.; Peter Swallow and Lucia, Farmington.

Mrs. Dorothy Christie was in town to attend the Gould Academy Alumni Luncheon with her son, Donald, who received the Michael S. Stowell Volunteer Award.

Mary Wentzell Eichel and Robert held a "Baker Cousins" reunion at their cottage on Songo Pond, Albany, on Saturday, Sept. 30. The cousins were members of her mother's family, Millie Baker Wentzell, and there were 12 present, much to the delight of the hostess, Mary's brothers, C. Rodney, and Erland and wife Margaret of Windham attended.

Helen Varner Jenkins, 91, of Farmington, formerly of Bethel and Dixfield, passed away last week. She taught in the Bethel schools for 30 years and was active in local organizations and church.

Stephen Wentzell and new wife of Delaware, son of C. Rodney Wentzell, spent a few days this week with his dad and aunt and uncle, Mary and Robert Eichel at their cottage at Songo Pond.

Thank you, Lillian Conant, for being able to convince the CMP repairman to install new bulbs, five to be exact, on Mill Hill. These have been out since last winter, and reports to the Bethel town office and Bridgton CMP office had been unresponsive. It seems great to have the corner at the top of the hill and the hill, also, lighted again.

On Sept. 25, Pauline and Lindley Wieden entertained Mrs. Irene Putnam of Black Island, Thompson Lake, Poland for luncheon.

On Sunday, Oct. 1, Sylvia and Don LaFlamme visited with her parents, Pauline and Lindley Wieden and took them out for dinner.

This week's Bethel news was submitted by Mary Keniston.

The Bethel House

by Ruth Cummings
Vada Glover spent the day with me Wednesday, Sept. 20. We went to Wal-Mart, ate dinner at Shaner's and visited Warren Powers at the Veterans' Home. We had a very nice visit with him. He was expecting to go to room 36 in the residential section the next day. He had been scheduled to move before but due to a setback he did not make it then.

Vada and I played 10 games of cribbage and each won five. I skunked her once. Now in 2,595 games since we started keeping score, I am three ahead.

KC Denton of PMV Coastal was at the Bethel House Friday afternoon on maintenance.

Rebecca Ricker attended a field hockey game at Telstar with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cole recently.

Dawn Gross visited Olive Williams at the Bethel House recently.

Florence Morgan and Eva Lane's granddaughter visited with Eva at the Bethel House recently.

Does anyone out there have any extra Delaware quarters? I would like to get some, and I have a friend that wants some. I have other state quarters extra that maybe you could use.

Pastor Rick's message for Sunday, Sept. 24, was "Compelled and Eager." It was a very nice message. Pastor Rick also sang a lovely hymn. I had never heard it before; it said, "let your candle light the world." I am not sure of the name of the hymn. But Pastor said it was one we were all going to learn so we could sing it during a regular church service. Cherie Mason reported on missions. Andrea Bennett, Joan Royer, Andy Bean and Pastor Rick were all down front for the singing of the choruses. Pastor played his guitar, Judy Webster was at the piano and Peggy Mowery played the flute for the hymns as well as the choruses.

Rebecca Ricker and I watched the fireworks from the Bethel House on Saturday night.

Vada Glover spent the day with me on Tuesday, Sept. 26, and we played 10 games of cribbage and each won five but I skunked her once. I am still three games ahead and we have played 481 games this year. We had dinner at Market Square.

"The sins that would entangle us/Must never be ignored/If we do not get rid of them/They will pierce us like a sword." --Sper

Have a nice week everyone and God bless.

North Newry

by
Gil Seely

On Thursday, Sept. 21, we took to the road, Ras and Karlene Bachelder and yours truly, and landed in Stratton and other places. We visited with Ras' nephew in Stratton and had a nice, long visit on the farm. We went to visit other relatives, but we didn't find them home. We went to the cemetery so that Ras could place flowers on the grave of his mother and father and his two brothers. We stopped at Eustis and had lunch then came home. We didn't see a deer or moose, not even a rabbit. Maybe next time.

Marie Lowell and Matthew Silfer of Myrtle Beach, S.C. were weekend guests of David Lowell. Marie came to attend her fifth reunion at Gould Academy.

Karlene Bachelder, Gil Seely, Beal Lowell and Doris Parent were at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford one day last week to do some bowling for fun. On the overall scores, Karlene was high, beating Gil by 10 pins and Doris by 11 pins. On the first string, Doris was high, beating Karlene by six pins. On the second string, Gil was high, beating Karlene by one pin. On the third string, Karlene was high, beating Gil by 10 pins. All went to lunch and did some shopping. Better luck next time, Beal.

I enjoyed a delicious supper at Bill and Sylvia Wight's one day

Local and state officials last week visited the site of the former Greenwood tire dump. The Department of Environmental Protection has nearly completed the removal of an estimated 1.3-1.5 million tires, located on property owned by Peter Gordon. Most of the tires, after chipping, will be used as lightweight fill for Maine Turnpike Authority and Department of Transportation projects. Shown here are Carol Whitman, Greenwood town manager, Randy McMullin of DEP and Rep. Arlan Jodrey.

last week and we then went to a meeting at the town building that night.

Mason Township

by Richard Grover

Two days' drive west from Illinois brought us to Denver, Colo. and the town of Aurora, where my son, Dean, resides.

Dean and Sam (wife, Samantha) have identical twins, Amanda and Ryan, four years old. (Well, identical except for their gender.) Ryan is all boy and is forever coming up with ideas for stirring up mischief. For example, one day Sam, Mona and I were sitting in the dining room, while the kids were upstairs. We began hearing an occasional "thump" on the ceiling above our heads; Sam told me I better go up and see what the kids were into, because they were in our bedroom. I quietly slipped upstairs and peeked into the bedroom. There were the twins, jumping on our bed and tossing small, stuffed animals (Beanie Babies) up onto the blades of the ceiling fan. Then Ryan saw me and said, "Watch this, Grandpa." He jumped to the floor ("thump"), walked over to the door and turned on the fan switch, spinning the toys off the fan and scattering them about the room.

Next day, Dean drove us all up to Rocky Mountain National Park, previously referred to as Estes National Park. Despite heavy traffic, we saw dozens of elk grazing and meandering about the edges of a couple alpine valleys. We kept watching, hoping for a bullfight or some mating action, but I guess the rut hadn't started yet. Then, as we left the park and drove through the town of Estes, we spotted another batch of elk, making themselves at home in the middle of town, some resting on lawns, some grazing by the sidewalks, seemingly oblivious of all the people and traffic.

After a nice visit in Aurora, we headed south to Albuquerque, N. M., to visit one of my old Air Force buddies, who now has terminal cancer. Kent Harrah and I went through a year of aviation cadet training, nine months of electronic warfare training and four years stationed together in a B-52 squadron in Minot, N. D. We even got married just a couple months apart in Minot. Kent is one of those rare characters who enjoys life to the fullest, and at the same time, fulfills all his duties. He has dated on his wife, Ginger, maintaining a loving relationship even after her 21-year battle with multiple sclerosis, which has left her wheelchair-bound for quite a few years. Needless to say, saying goodbye to both Kent and Ginger was an emotionally draining experience. But, I am thoroughly glad that we made that "trip into nostalgia."

Leaving New Mexico, we drove to Monument Valley, Utah, staying at a campground run by the Navajo Indians. The vistas there are breathtaking, and as Kent Harrah says, "take you back to some of the old John Wayne movies," which were filmed there in the '40s and '50s. We dallied there just long enough to check out the visitor's center and a couple hawks perched on a silver jewelry. Mona found a silver and jade watchband of the type she had been looking for. The Indian lady there told us she had running water at her home, but no electricity (I didn't dare ask if the running water was a stream). The Navajos have built new homes in many areas of Monument Valley that I never noticed before, and I think the rise in tourism is bringing much-needed income to many of that tribe. The terrain in that area is so arid and remote from mainstream America that few other employment opportunities exist for them.

After Monument Valley, we went through the village of Mexican Hat, and I had to reaffirm my reputation for taking "the road less traveled." We took a shortcut from Mexican Hat to Glen Canyon, Utah. This began as a paved road, with a warning that the road becomes "narrow, steep, unpaved and winding" x miles ahead. No problem for my mighty four-cylinder Toyota pickup. As it turned out, we encountered a three-mile stretch of washboard gravel switchbacks carved into the sheer side of a mesa wall. It was first gear and 10 to 15 miles per hour until we reached the top, when we could both let out our breath again. We must have ascended close to 1,000 feet in that distance. Along the way, someplace, we learned the difference between a "mesa," a "butte," and a "spire" or "chimney." A mesa, derived from the Mexican word for table, is a raised plateau with a flat top. A butte is like a small mesa, but much narrower. Spires and chimneys are buttes that have eroded to the point that only sharp pinnacles are left.

I found this article among my papers but do not know who wrote it, but will share it with you.

"Who is a Senior Citizen?"

"A senior citizen is one who was here before the pill and the population explosion. We were here before television, penicillin, polio shots, antibiotics and Frisbees. Before frozen food, nylon, dacron, Xerox, radar, fluorescent lights, credit cards, VCRs, ballpoint pens, home and auto air-conditioning, automatic transmissions, power steering and power brakes.

"For us, time sharing meant togetherness, not computers; a chair was a piece of wood, hardware meant hard wear and software wasn't even a word.

"Co-eds never wore slacks. We were before pantyhose and drip-dry clothes, before icemakers and dishwashers, clothes dryers, freezers and electric blankets. Before Alaska and Hawaii became states. Before men wore long hair and earrings and women wore tuxedos. We were before plastic, the 40-hour week and the minimum wage.

"We got married first, then lived together. How quaint can one be? Closets were for clothes, not for 'coming out of,' bunnies were small rabbits and rabbits were not Volkswagens.

"We were before Frank Sinatra and cup-sizing for bras. Girls wore Peter Pan collars and thought cleavage was something butchers did.

"We were before Batman, Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer and Snoopy. Before DDT, vitamin pills, disposable diapers, Jeeps and the Jefferson Memorial Arch, NASA, and pizza, Cheerios, instant coffee, decaffeinated anything and McDonald's were all unheard of. We thought fast food was what you ate during lent. In our day, cigarette smoking was something fashionable, grass was for mowing, Coke was a refreshing drink and pot was something we cooked in."

My nephew, Dale Mills, and wife, Marcia, from North Haverhill, came to visit me on Monday.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published here by special arrangement with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

The things I've been reading in the newspaper lately certainly have put me into a nutritional tizzy. I thought I had a pretty good idea of what foods were nutritionally good and what ones were not. Now, I just don't know.

For years the good health people have been telling us to avoid chemical preservatives especially BHA and BHT. In fact, these chemicals were in part responsible for the health food movement in the first place. Why? Because it was believed, and more than one food scientist thought they had proof, that these nasty chemicals could cause cancer - the Big C. Now it seems that not only do the nasty chemicals not cause cancer, they may actually help to prevent it.

than Brussels sprouts any day of the week.

I would certainly prefer the preservative packed munchies to fiddlehead ferns that another newspaper article said caused food poisoning.

Now isn't that a kick in the butt? Greens are supposed to be just about one of the best things we can eat and now we can't even be sure about that. Not so long ago a lot of people felt there was nothing quite as delectable as a bowl of fiddlehead ferns swimming in melted butter. Then we find that fiddleheads might cause food poisoning and in another newspaper article we are told that due to the high fat and cholesterol content of butter we would be better off to switch to margarine. Americans being a health conscious society as a whole, heeded the advice and made the switch to margarine believing they were adding years to their lives even though they were sacrificing flavor. Even restaurants serving fried eggs, greasy home fries and bacon were offering a low fat margarine to put on the toast. Go figure!

Wanting to do the right thing by my physical well-being I switched to a product that doesn't even call itself margarine. It's a "spread", low calorie, no cholesterol "spread." It baffles me however, that this product can be low calorie and no cholesterol when the list of ingredients include partially hydrogenated vegetable oil (laden with cholesterol) and sweet cream (laden with fat) not to mention the preservatives (which now may be okay).

I guess none of that matters anyway because another newspaper article not so long ago said that it was believed that someone made a mistake and butter is actually better for us than margarine. They didn't say anything about "spread" so I'm not exactly sure where I stand in the butter/margarine debate.

I do know that one of my favorite taste treats is butter or margarine or even "spread" melted on a warm piece of fresh baked bread. Now I'm not sure if I should even eat that. A very recent newspaper article said that the aroma of bread baking and emitted into the air by large commercial bakeries is not good for us. What gives here?

Either the bakeries are using chemicals that they shouldn't be using in the first place or any bread baking smells are not good. I just don't understand it.

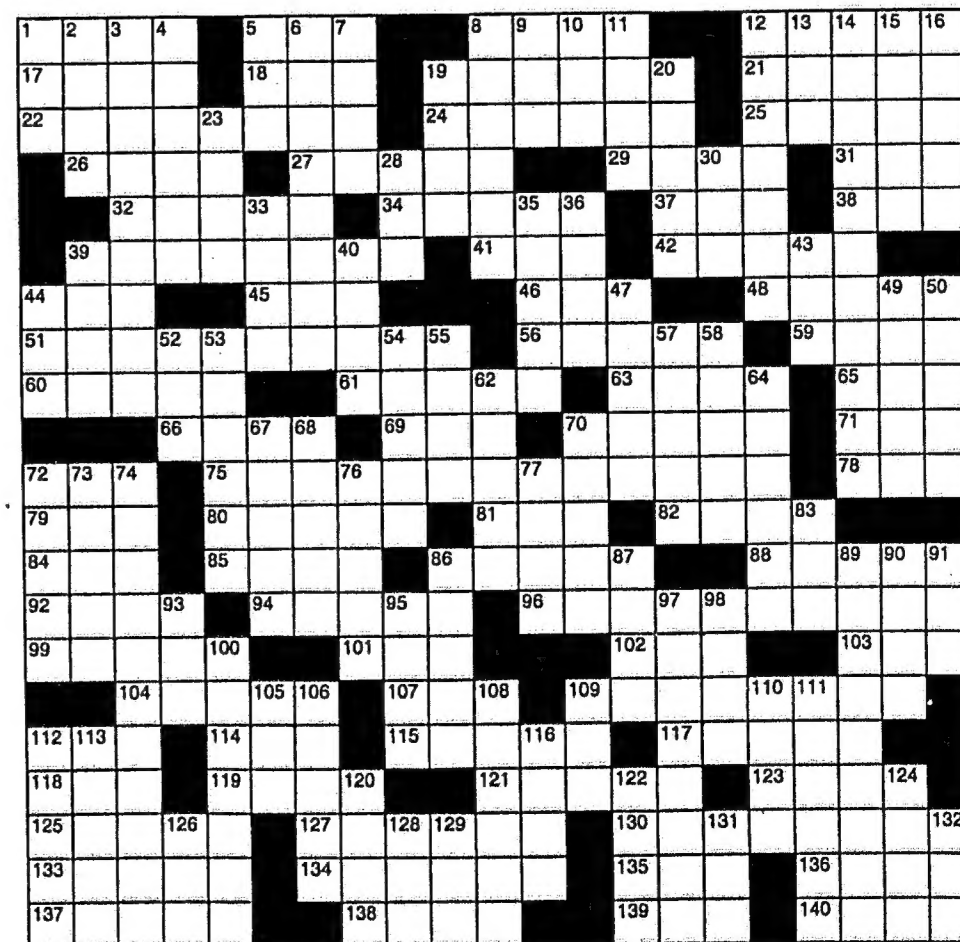

I get so confused. I can't even be sure an apple a day will keep the doctor away because according to a newspaper article a few years ago, apples sprayed with Alar were really bad for us. Another newspaper article said apple growers stopped using Alar so apples are good again.

Milk, it does the body good, but that's only if it's skim milk because anything else has a high content of butterfat which is not good. Only now that butter is okay again, what about the butterfat in milk? Or is butter okay again only over margarine which has preservatives? And now that preservatives are not as bad as we once thought, is margarine now better for us than butter?

The way I see it, you just can't believe everything you read in the newspaper. It's not that the newspaper articles aren't providing us with correct information, it's just that the word on what is good for us and what isn't is a little like the New England weather...just wait a minute and it will change.

SLATTERY OUTSTANDING 4-H LEADER
The 4-H program and Oxford County Fair named Kate Slattery of Bethel this year's Outstanding 4-H Leader. Slattery is active with the Oxford County 4-H Leaders' Association, the Livestock Committee and is organizational leader for Tally-Ho Horse Club. She is an assistant leader with the Teen Exchange and Career Program and worked hard this year on club and county fundraisers. She coordinated the statewide Maine 4-H Days horse track in Fryeburg and a county-wide horse clinic on the Oxford County Fairgrounds. She is an AmeriCorps 4-H volunteer, past Extension Advisory Board member and a leader for seven years. The award was presented at the 4-H Horse Show on Sept. 13.

out by Evelyn's niece, Terry Merrill, and served by nieces Kellie Record and Sarah Hart. Kellie Record served the punch.

Phil Merrill did the honor of taking pictures of everyone there and did a wonderful job.

A memory board was on view for those attending to look at and add to if wanted.

Evelyn and James received gifts, money and cards.

James and Evelyn (Poland) Dunn were married Oct. 17, 1950 in West Paris at Evelyn's Uncle Maurice Benson's home. They live in Campton, N.H. Their daughter, Patricia Dunn, came from Loma Linda, Calif. for the celebration. Many of us had not seen Patricia for up to 15 years. So this was extra special for us all.

Guests attended from Freeport, West Paris, Woodstock, Norway, Florida, California, Bethel, Lewiston, Oxford and South Paris. We all wished them many more years together.

A car/moose accident occurred one night this past week. It was real near where I live. I heard the driver received some minor injuries. I have not heard for sure who was the driver involved.

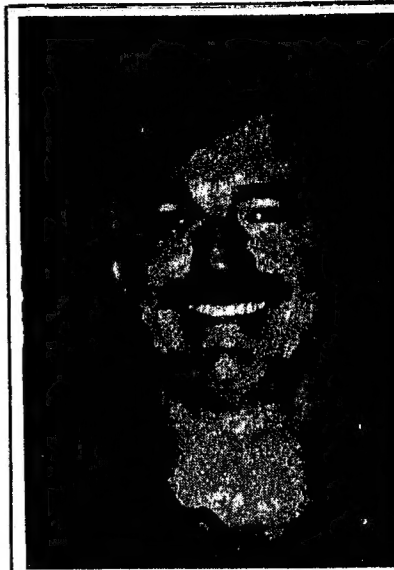

It was with great pleasure to see the soap box derby returning to West Paris. There has been a lot of interest this past year to start the sport up again. There will be a dedication of the new track being held in October. It will be dedicated in the memory of Arthur Dean, who took a great interest in the sport in the first years in the 1960s and helped to get it started at that time.

Many happy returns to those celebrating their birthdays in October. They are: Dustin Tilley, Aaron Bean, Linsey Record, Rosalie Poland, Karon Wing, Laurie Cox, Roger Wilday, Jeannie Grover, Virginia Mason, Jerrold Mason, Lisa Ryerson, Matthew Ryerson, Chad Ryerson, Rhonda Yap, Benjamin Yap, Raymond Wilson, Brandon Yap, Chris Canulli, Donald Mason Jr. and Darren Brown.

Anniversaries this month are: James and Evelyn Dunn, Wayne and Pat Lawrence, Bruce and Donna Danforth, Ernie and Rhonda Yap, Robert and Margie Gleason and Jim and Chris Miclon.

Larry Billings, curator of the Woodstock Historical Society, reports the museum captures the atmosphere of this part of Maine. It is a fascinating place.

Quote of the Week: "I've learned that if you keep raising the roof, people will think there's something wrong in your attic."

BRYANT POND MAN HONORED
Kerry Bryant of Bryant Pond has received the Academy of General Dentistry's Fellowship Award. As a fellow, Dr. Bryant was recognized by the Academy as a leader who is committed to lifelong learning and excellence in patient care. Bryant practices in Farmingdale. In addition to the AGD, Bryant is also a member of the American Dental Association and the Academy for Sports Dentistry. In the past, he has also been active in Little League baseball and in the Boy Scouts of America. His wife, Sarah, is employed as a ski pro at Sunday River Ski Resort, and they are the parents of Abigail and Gregory.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson
Hi readers. On Sept. 27, nine members of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Tent 19 and one son of the Union Veterans met at the K. of P. Hall here in Stoneham for their regular meeting. The Tent president, Lesley Dean, opened the meeting at 7:30 p.m. She had a nice, warm hall for us to meet in. Secretary and treasurer's reports were read and accepted.

The charter was draped in memory of past national department D.U.V. president, Ruth Jordan, who passed away just recently. We shall miss Ruth Jordan, especially at the Maine Department conventions and national conventions and just all around. She was the most knowledgeable and interesting person in this organization.

At the next meeting, members are to bring gifts and toiletries for the veterans' gift shop for the veterans to choose gifts to give their loved ones (like hankies, scarves, knit hats, jewelry, toothbrushes or soaps, gloves, mittens, etc.). These items will be taken from the D.U.V. Tents to the veterans' homes.

A household inventory list of 25 items was given out to members, with amounts for each item, to be returned to Helvi Cary for her

G.A.R. Living Memorial Scholarship fund.

The next meeting will be held on Oct. 25 at the home of Eleanor Smith, and inspection meeting and supper will be on Nov. 6 with the Norway Tent and Bryant Pond Tent. Tent 19 is to bring salads.

Nov. 25 is the Oxford Hills Christmas Parade and the D.U.V. will again be selling hot coffee, hot cocoa and cookies and bars at the L.F. Pike Clothing Store on Main Street in Norway. This is always a fun day for everyone.

Eleanor Nelson won the mystery gift. Meeting was adjourned and light refreshments were served by members.

Frankie Vail is at home now after being in the hospital.

Frances Grant and Eleanor Nelson called on Wilma Taylor at the Norway Convalescent Home one day last week.

Albert Nelson Jr. and "Amber" Mills recently and he has been doing extensive cleaning, insulating and remodeling there. We won't know the place when we go up again. He heard a lot of bears hollering in the early morning hours while traveling across the mountain, but not too far off.

Mrs. Florence Morrison is at the Market Square Health Care Center at 12 Market Square, South Paris, ME 04281 after being in Stephens Memorial Hospital. Her room number is 14, if you would like to send her a get-well card or visit.

Don't you just like these nice fall days?

The regularly scheduled Hanover selectmen's meeting took place Tuesday, Sept. 26, at the Town House. Brenda Gross chaired the meeting, as Bruce Powell was absent due to a conflicting meeting. Scott Gould attended, also. Selectmen heard the town clerk's report, which related to delinquent taxes that had been collected to date, amounts received from the State of Maine for subsidies and attempts to get Hanover into the Bureau of Motor Vehicles' new registration program.

Roger Robin from the Planning Board reported on the last two board meetings and that the board would soon have forms for use on site plan reviews.

The assessors reported that they had received updated information from the appraiser's office. Under old business, the selectmen felt that renovation plans for the new town office on Ferry Road had to be placed on hold until the site plan review is completed. The selectmen also learned that the post office may be on hold until spring, or it may be contracted locally and stick built.

Under new business, selectmen considered correspondence related to water damage to property on South Shore Road. They also plan to review the franchise proposal presented by Adelphia Communications.

Brenda Gross revealed plans to establish a Neighborhood Watch Program with the Oxford County Sheriff's Office in the area of Main Street, which has recently been plagued with break-ins and burglaries. The next selectmen's meeting is scheduled for Oct. 24, 6 p.m. at the Town House.

Donna and Clem Worcester went to Farmington Fair to take part in the presentation of a horse cooler blanket that had been purchased by the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias of Maine. Also taking part from this area were Danny Bennett from Milton, as well as Clyde Barker, Strong, Mike Barker, New Sharon; Ernest Rice, Milbridge and Lawrence Young, Hancock.

Jim Ray arrived at his Howard Pond cottage on Saturday after driving from Austin, Texas. On Monday, Jim picked up Judy Ray at the Portland Jetport and they are both enjoying being in the area again.

Anne Wheeler, also from Austin, Texas, arrived at her Howard Pond Road home as part of her fall vacation.

Sadly, we report the passing of Betty Eaton, 70, from Kennebunk

Beach, who died at Maine Medical Center on Sept. 27. Betty and her husband, Richard, own Offen-In on South Shore Road and she was a niece of Parker and Grace Russell, who owned Russell's General Store at the present day Gordie Howe's location.

Vacationing at Howard Pond are Mr. and Mrs. David Hopkins and family from California. David is the son of the late Warren Hopkins and Pat Hopkins who formerly owned "Log Hollow" on the Howard Pond Road.

The Hanover Town Office will be closed on Friday, Oct. 6, so the office staff may go to Fryeburg Fair.

South Woodstock

by Andrea Wing

A 50th wedding anniversary party was held for James and Evelyn Dunn on Sept. 24 at Richard and Andrea Wing's home in South Woodstock. About 60 persons attended. A nice variety of food was served. Tommy Poland, Joan Poland (sisters-in-law) and Andrea Wing (sister) did the major planning, with lots of help from family members.

A beautiful wedding cake was

West Paris

by
Miriam Inman

The Harvest Supper at the Historical Society Building last Friday night was very successful, with a full house. Proceeds were about $355. The Parisians' music was really enjoyed and there were many dancers. Thank you to all who helped make it a great evening.

The Goodwill Fellowship fall sale at Trap Corner last Saturday was also very successful, earning in the vicinity of $330.

Wayne and Nancy Penley were recently with their camper at Loudon, N.H.

We are pleased to know that Nancy won a blue ribbon on her quilt at the Oxford County Fair. Good going, Nancy.

Goodwill Fellowship met for a potluck supper and meeting at the home of Marta Clements, with 12 in attendance. The next meeting will be on Oct. 23 with Eleanor Thuman in Greenwood City. Our annual Fall Sale will be on Nov. 4 at Goodwill Hall of the Universalist Church from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

An early notice: at the next Historical Society meeting on Oct. 16, "Pete" Lenwood Andrews will display the early telephones and speak on the old South Woodstock telephone system.

"Chick" Fitzmorris took her sister, Ann, and Ann's daughters, Patti and Mary Goodwin, to the airport in Manchester, N.H. on Sunday, where Patti and Mary boarded a plane back to their homes in Washington state after spending 10 days visiting their mother and calling on other relatives in the area.

Andy and I attended the funeral services for Phyllis Dock at the Middle Intervale Meeting House on Thursday. Phyllis's mother, Marie Swan Davis, was a sister to my grandfather, Guy Swan, so I guess that makes me some sort of a cousin to her. She was always my source whenever I got to working on the Swan genealogy. I didn't get to the Methodist Church where people were going to swap memories. I'd like to have attended but had a prior commitment.

The one memory that stands out in my mind was a rather embarrassing one. It happened when my children were small and I had been rather busy so I hadn't seen Phyllis for some time when I met her at Hathaway's Store. I knew I should have known her but somehow I got her mixed up with someone else and asked her how her mother was doing, and she gently replied that her mother had been dead for some time.

That caused a click and I realized who she was, and I apologized and mentioned the person I mistook her for. She told me she was quite honored to be mistaken for this person. No put-down of the other person, but I felt she was being gracious in order to spare my feelings.

In any case, I felt pretty foolish that I did not even know my own relative; but, that encounter sort of etched her face in my brain and I certainly remembered what she looked like from then on. I am very sorry that such a tragic accident had to happen but they do. As someone once told me, statistics say that so many accidents take place every month and they have to come from somewhere. It's just that it is a lot worse when it's someone you know and love.

The Bible says, "Weeping endureth for a night but joy cometh in the morning." We don't know how long a night will be but we have the promise that joy will come. So take comfort from those words, for they were certainly meant to bring comfort.

On a lighter note, I finally got my relish made and put in the jars and sealed tightly. I always dread doing it, but it brings a certain amount of satisfaction to see the jars in the pantry and it's always better than the commercial kind.

Well folks, our Girl Scout Troop 1496 held a Brownie sign-up session at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 26, at the Agnes L. Gray School cafeteria. The first official meeting for this age group will be Oct. 3, again at the Agnes L. Gray School cafeteria. You may call Jennifer Libby at 674-5079 or Debby Mehigan at 674-2189 if you missed the sign-up session. For Girl Scouts, you can call Donna Diconzo at 674-3839 for both Brownies and juniors, who meet Wednesdays at the Agnes L. Gray School gym from 3 to 4:30 p.m.

Another Girl Scout troop meets Monday from 3 to 4:30 p.m. at the West Paris Baptist Church, under the direction of Shirley Norbert (674-2170). A fourth group of Girl Scouts meets at the West Paris Universalist Church on Sundays from 2 to 4 p.m. under the direction of Chris Cote (674-2597).

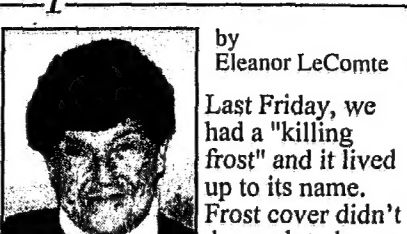

For Boy Scout Troop 133 of West Paris, the Cub Scouts meet every other Thursday from 6 to 7:15 p.m. at the Agnes L. Gray School gym. The Webelos meet every other Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Agnes L. Gray School gym, while the Boy Scouts themselves meet at the same place every Saturday evening from 6 to 7:15 p.m. For more information, call Nick Diconzo at 674-3839.

West Paris Grange will hold its annual Hobby Night at their hall on 4 Church Street on the evening of Oct. 5 at 7 p.m. Come on out for an evening of fun.

The Fall Craft Fair, Bake Sale and Flea Market at West Paris Grange Hall will be held on Oct. 14, beginning at 9 a.m. To rent a table, call Mary Lovejoy at 674-2147.

See you all next week.

Upton

by
Eleanor LeComte

Last Friday, we had a "killing frost" and it lived up to its name. Frost cover didn't do much to keep the 22-degree weather from doing away with this year's flower crop. We were smart enough to pick the green tomatoes, so they were saved.

Joe and Penny Bernier hosted a Western Maine Mountain Jeep Club fall foliage run the weekend of Sept. 29 and 30. The 24 Jeeps, with about 75 people, started in Newry Saturday morning and trekked through the woods. They enjoyed a BBQ at Berniers Saturday night. They went on a night run through to Dunn's Notch and back. Many "Jeepers" tented out at Joe and Penny's both Friday and Saturday. "Jeepers" attended from Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey and New York.

Roger Lavallee is recovering from surgery. It's hard to keep him down. Two days later he was back on the job.

The Route 26 Scenic Byway Public Hearing was held in the Ladies Aid Building. It was too cold in the school building.

The Planning Board met on Saturday. Building permits were discussed.

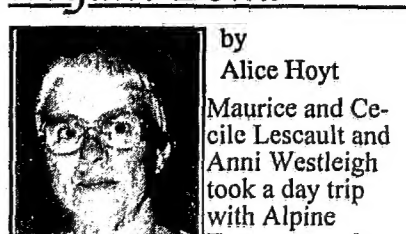

Larry Nelson has returned from Florida. He spent several days visiting his mother.

I traveled to Massachusetts last weekend to attend my 55th high school reunion. It was a lot of fun. White hair and wrinkles didn't seem to bother anyone. The "old gals" looked pretty good for grandmothers and great-grandmothers. We were told to bring a picture of ourselves when we were young. I brought one of Marilyn Monroe and received some harsh criticism from my former classmates.

Sue Angevine wins the prize for the first person to get the flu this year in Upton. She is not too pleased with the honor.

The pileated woodpecker is the "Bird of the Week." We haven't seen too many this year, but I was fortunate to have one fly in front of me across Mill Road. It is always a treat to see this fine-feathered friend. He is known by several names. Some people call them "logcock," but up here in Upton we call them "cock of the woods." They are crowd sized. His prominent red crest and loud raucous call gets your attention fast. The rectangular excavations on trees tell you that he has been doing his job. He leaves piles of wood chips and can remain pecking at a tree for hours. This bird nests from southern Canada to the Gulf States. The nest is in a cavity in a tree and usually four white eggs are incubated. We see them summer and winter in Upton.

Maurice and Cecile Lescault and Anni Westleigh took a day trip with Alpine Tours to see the Brimfield Antique Fair in Massachusetts. It was a long but comfortable ride and was really worth it. They didn't buy much because the prices were steep but it sure was fun looking. They only saw half of the fair, so they expect to go back next year. They will start saving up now.

Patch the Pirate Club meets each Wednesday evening at 6:30 p.m., same time as prayer meeting, at the Baptist Church. Thursday evening at 6 p.m. is visitation. Sunday services are Sunday School and Adult Bible Fellowship at 9:15 a.m., morning service at 10:30 a.m. and evening service at 6 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 8, Mike Shrock, New England representative of Bob Jones University, will be at the church for all services and provide special music.

The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens will go to Willy Dee's for lunch on Thursday, Oct. 5.

Judith Grover Tent 17 will meet on Monday, Oct. 9. Please bring candy for Halloween bags for veterans' homes, gifts for Togos gift shop and gifts for veterans to this meeting.

Larry and Paul Billings watched the video of "American Beauty" recently and decided what people say about Hollywood promoting sex and violence was true, at least as far as that movie went. The Historical Society has been given a large collection of pictures, and they are pleased to have them.

Agnes Gray School

by
Marta Clements

We are in full swing here in West Paris and are busier than ever. I will begin with our present news and work backward, as I haven't been writing. So get your calendars out.

Mark Saturday, Oct. 14, as a day of fun. Our first Fall Festival, under the auspices of the West Paris School Volunteers, will be taking place, rain or shine. Last spring students and teachers took home a bag of pumpkin seeds to plant. On the 14th we hope to have games, activities, prizes, contests, caramel apples, cider, popcorn, apples, pumpkins, face painting, scarecrow building, a hay ride, raffles, West Paris vests or jackets to order, a volunteer information table and lots and lots of fun.

There will be judging of the smallest, the greenest, the orange, the roundest, the weirdest and of course the largest pumpkin. Pumpkins should also be available for sale.

It is hard to believe, but the first ranking period closes on Oct. 27. We will be preparing for our three-way parent-teacher-student conferences to set goals for the new school year. The conferences will be held on Nov. 9, and there will be a book fair that week, also. It will be buy one, get one free — a great time to stock up for children and for Christmas.

We, particularly the principal and teachers of grades one through three, have been really busy this fall with the huge Family Literacy Program grant that we received last spring. There are also several new people involved, and they will be working with West Paris families in their homes. The goal is to have every child reading at grade level by the end of the third grade. Activities will be ongoing, but this past week we had a Family Reading Night with a guest reader, Michael Miclon, of the Oddfellow Theater in Buckfield. He read "Goodnight Opus." This was followed by a craft activity, which was enjoyed by children of all ages.

Our school also participated on Sept. 30 in the combined Homecoming-Walk for Education. We held our open house and introduced our new staff and explained the Family Literacy Program. The West Paris School Volunteers have met and have lots planned already. The students are working hard. We have a new spelling program for grades two through six. We are also welcoming two new literacy ed. techs. that work with children in the classroom. Mary Williams works with grades kindergarten through three and Lisa Vail works with grades four through six. All is well.

School Sports

High School Boys' Varsity Soccer

Gould 3, Kents Hill 0; Sept. 30—The men's varsity soccer team dominated Kents Hill on Saturday. The team used quick passes to keep possession and created numerous chances to score. Justin Hautaniemi scored in the 18th minute after beating a Kents Hill defender on the right side. Kents Hill then let up another goal when Dylan Hood served a ball into the box from the left side. Emmett Donovan scored the third goal after splitting two defenders and beating one on the dribble to fire past the Kents Hill goalkeeper. Every player contributed to this fine performance at home. —coach Brett Shiffrin

High School Girls' Varsity Soccer

Gould 7, Kents Hill 1; Sept. 30—Adora Burke scored three goals, Kate Warner scored three and had two assists, and Martha Gray added one goal to Gould's offensive effort. Courtney Amadon had two assists and Jena Greaser had one. Gould took 28 shots on goal to Kents Hill's 5. Excellent team play, well-executed passes and good hustle to the ball contributed to the win, which improved Gould's record to 4-1. —coach Lauren Head

High School Girls' J.V. Soccer

Kents Hill 2, Gould 1; Sept. 30—Despite managing 18 shots on goal and holding the Kents Hill offense to 4 shots, Gould's J.V. team suffered their first defeat of the season. Jenny Park scored the Huskies' only goal. —coach Denise Manning

High School Boys' J.V. Soccer

Gould 2, Kents Hill 2; Sept. 30—Gould and Kents Hill played to a tie on Saturday on Gould's home field. Quinn McAllister scored Gould's first goal off an assist by Jason Mowery in the third minute of play. Idin Delpour scored unassisted two minutes later. Kents Hill scored in the 32nd and 63rd minutes of the game, and four scoreless overtimes left the game tied at the end. —coach Tom Whittington Telstar 1, Carrabec 0; Sept. 30—Telstar's Casey Fleet scored midway through the first half as the Rebels defeated the Cobras. "The J.V. squad distinguished itself with hustle and determination throughout the match," said coach Charlie Newell.

Telstar 1, Mt. Valley 1; Sept. 27—Mike Hoy scored Telstar's only goal in a tie with Mt. Valley. "We played well — we're doing a lot of good things on the field and have shown vast improvement since our first games," said coach Charlie Newell.

High School Varsity Field Hockey

Telstar 2, Lisbon 1; Oct. 2—Telstar's Nikki Roberts and Marianne Nadeau scored in a win over Lisbon. Nadeau, Katie Wight and Mariah Seams had assists, and goalie Maegan Gaudreau had three saves. Defensive player Holly Merrill also made a save. The defense held Lisbon to three shots on goal. "Two goals in two minutes made up for a slow start," said coach Gail Wight.

Gould 1, Proctor 1; Sept. 30—Gould and Proctor Academy played to a 1-1 tie after one ten-minute overtime period. Proctor scored in the first five minutes of the game, and Robin Chace scored Gould's only goal with three minutes left in the first half. The two teams played tough the whole game, with Gould having some great chances to score in the last seconds of the overtime period. Goalie Erin Plummer had 12 saves for Gould. —coach Sue Gardner Winthrop 2, Telstar 1; Sept. 29—Telstar's Marianne Nadeau scored on an assist from Kate Caddigan for the Rebels' only goal in a loss to Winthrop.

Goalie Maegan Gaudreau had nine saves. "The team played extremely well," said coach Gail Wight. "We need to just keep concentrating on our shots."

Telstar 4, Boothbay 2; Sept. 27—Telstar's Nikki Roberts scored three goals and Lauren Hart one in a win over Boothbay. Hart, Katie Wight, Marianne Nadeau and Mariah Seams had assists. Telstar outshot Boothbay 22-2.

High School J.V. Field Hockey

Winthrop 3, Telstar 0; Sept. 29—Telstar goalkeeper Jenna Poor had 14

saves in a loss to Winthrop. Justine Carver, Ashley Stambolis and Jessie Adams all played solid defense. "The team played extremely well, considering they started with only nine of 11 players," said coach Dan Bernier.

Telstar 2, Boothbay 0; Sept. 27—Telstar's Lauren Hart scored both goals in a win over Boothbay. Erin Tripp, Justine Carver and Jessie Adams had several great stops on defense. Jenna Poor had three saves in goal.

High School Cross-country

Hyde Invitational; Sept. 30—The cross country running team enjoyed a successful Saturday at the Hyde Invitational in Bath. In the boys' race, Gould placed second, falling to Hyde-Woodstock School in Connecticut. The girls held on for a third place finish. The story behind the story included minor wrong turns for eventual winner Evan Daigneault and third place finisher Kyle Rogers on a very confusing Hyde course. The girls were not so lucky, with Erika Hoddinott and Elizabeth Baribeau taking major wrong turns that set them minutes back in the results. Katie Davison was able to crush the competition for victory in her first cross country race. She found the right course and was able to savor the victory for almost two minutes before the second place runner (from Hyde) crossed the line. Congratulations go to the top five Gould runners who scored valuable points for the team: Katie Davison, Erika Hoddinott, Caroline Coombs, Elizabeth Baribeau, and Danielle Perrone for the girls; and Evan Daigneault, Kyle Rogers, Charlie Merritt, Matt Martel, and Will Schmitt for the boys. The Gould runners look forward to establishing themselves at the top of the MAISAD league at the Bridgton Invitational next Saturday.

Madison 25, Telstar 32, Jay 78, Mt. Abram no score; Sept. 27 (boys)—Telstar's Fred Bailey took first, Josh Aylward fourth, Bryan Wilson seventh, John Reuter 11th, Dustin Angevine 12th and Joel Doyon 16th. "Great individual performances," said coach John Applin. "Every guy ran a personal best for the Telstar course."

Telstar 22, Jay 39, Madison and Mt. Abram no score; Sept. 27 (girls)—Telstar's Anna Willard finished first, Erin Farrington eighth, Nikki Emerson 15th, Shonna Young 18th and Kelly Gionet 19th. Willard broke her own Telstar course record of 20:07 with a new mark of 19:46.

Middle School Boys' Varsity Soccer

Telstar 8, Peru 0; Oct. 3—Telstar's Karl Olson scored four goals and Brandon Costello two in a win over Peru. Ian Seikman and Glen Carver, scored one each. Seikman and Reiss had two assists each, and Will Carver, Sean Caddigan and Matt McDonnell one each. Jeff Benson and August Reiss shared the team's fifth shutout of the season. So far this season, the Rebels have scored 55 goals in seven games, and have only allowed three goals scored against them. "Telstar soccer has a bright future," said coach Chris Hayward. "If you watch the team play, you'll understand why."

Telstar 6, Jay 0; Sept. 28—Telstar's Brandon Costello scored two goals and Ian Seikman, Matt McDonnell and Karl Olson one each in a win over Jay. Will Carver, Sean Caddigan, Jordan Bennett, Glen Carver and Seikman each had an assist. August Reiss, starting goalie, also scored on a penalty kick, his first goal of the season.

Middle School Boys' J.V. Soccer

Telstar 8, Peru 1; Oct. 3—Charging ahead with a season record of 6-0, the TMS soccer team defeated Peru. Matt Zinchuk and Owen Barter led the team, scoring two goals each. Other scorers were Brian Piawlock, Kamden Burke, Blake Conrad and Dan Cox. Ryan Kimball, Jessica James and Kevin Wight played a great defensive game. Capt. Blake Conrad, Kayla Day and Lauren McAllister controlled the middle of the field. —coach Ron Savage

From the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

Linda Farr Macgregor of Rumford will be the featured speaker at the Oct. 5 Bethel Historical Society lecture, which will be held in the Dr. Moses Mason House exhibit hall, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The topic will be "Where's Rumford?: 200 Years of Rumford History." Mrs. Macgregor has been active in many of the activities involved in the celebration of Rumford's bicentenary, including the forthcoming book highlighting the town's past made possible by an oral history project. Everyone is welcome and there is no admission charge.

The 2000 Bethel Historical Society Annual Fund campaign, chaired by John Head with committee members Danna Nickerson, Alden Kennett, Dorothy Bartlett and Arlan Jodrey, has raised nearly $5,000 to date from over 110 donors. Among the contributors are: Mary Dooen, Bethel, in memory of Ruth Wilkinson; Ronald and Marguerite Kendall, Bethel; Richard and Sally Taylor, Bethel; Hope B. Tibbets, Bethel; Ronald Peppard, Fitchburg, Mass.; in memory of Rita Peppard and Charles Heywood; Daphne A. Chapman, Peabody, Mass., in memory of Philip Sheridan Chapman, Jr.; Katherine Gordon, Bethel; Jacqueline Wilkins, Longwood, Fla., in memory of Grace Merrill; Katherine Mills Giunta, West Roxbury, Mass.; John Hancock Life Insurance Co., New York, N.Y.;

Grantham, Mayo, Van Otterloo and Co., Boston, Mass.; Harriet Bridges, Harvard, Mass.; William P. and Ki Clough, Bethel; Ruel and Lois Leavitt, Gorham, N.H.; Margaret Joy Tibbets, Bethel, in memory of Mary Tibbets Freeman; Frederick and Barbara Kneeland, Cherryfield, in memory of Libbie and Roland Kneeland; John W. Howe, Ottawa, Ontario; Dr. Edward Pinner, Luquillo, Puerto Rico; Walter and Carolyn Hatch, Bethel; Roland Annis, Bethel; Romeo and Jo Baker, Newry; Abbie Beane, Bethel; Francis and Mary Lou Berry, Newry; in memory of Eva A. Chapman and Helen E. Berry; Linona Blake, West Paris, in memory of Clayton Blake; Albert and Norma Buck, Oxford, in memory of Grace Buck; Edward V. and Cynthia Bush, Buzzards Bay, Mass.; Donald and Mary Calderwood, Mesa, Ariz., in memory of Muriel Brinck Thompson; Rita Davis, Bethel; Hugh and Mariann Durgin, Waterford, in memory of John E. Grover; Kathryn Eames, Cape Elizabeth; Esther Farnum, Norway; Arthur and Ruth Gilbert, West Bethel; Jerry and Jeri Greenwell, Bethel, in memory of Dana G. Brooks and in honor of Carolyn L. Brooks; Harlan and Gertrude Hutchins, Bethel; James Konkel, Cape Elizabeth; Erland and Margaret Wentzell, Windham, in memory of Stan and Millie Wentzell; Owen and Sue Wight, Newry, in memory of Sharon Bennett; Willard and Sylvia Wight, Newry, in memory of Sharon Bennett; Kathleen Bean, Bryant Pond, in memory of Dr. Bryant Bean; Elinor Clifford, Farmington, in memory of Gordon K. Clifford; Stanley Coolidge, Oxford; in memory of Jim and Joan

Coolidge; Doris Fraser, Bethel, in memory of Muriel B. Thompson; William Ullman, Bethel; Robert E. Wendig, Huntington Valley, Pa., in honor of Sunday River Inn; Rosalie T. Wight, Rumford. Much appreciation is expressed to all of the above for their generosity. Those wishing to donate to the Annual Fund should direct their tax-deductible contributions to the Bethel Historical Society, P.O. Box 12, Bethel, ME 04217-0012. These funds assist the society in balancing its budget each year and making certain all the ongoing programs and projects continue despite rising operating costs.

UNIVERSALIST REUNION

The First Universalist Church of South Paris is looking for all past church friends. A "Reunion Sunday" will be held on Oct. 22. All persons who have had some connection with the church, past member or congregant, friend, occasional visitor and all others are welcomed and encouraged to attend.

"Reunion Sunday" will include a celebration of the 100th birthday of church member Ruth Barnett. All her relatives and friends are invited to share the joy.

Transportation will be provided for those needing it and childcare is always available at all church services. For more information, call the First Universalist Church at 743-7403, Forest Perkins at 966-3872, or Jeanne Whittemore at 743-6737.

Church School will resume on Oct. 8.

MAYA BEST, L.C.S.W.—Maya Best, licensed clinical social worker, has opened a full-time practice for outpatient therapy, serving both children and adults. She has a master's degree in social work from the University of New England. She uses alternative creative ways to promote healing, including art therapy, sand tray therapy, play therapy, music, and movement. Her areas of expertise are working with people struggling with symptoms of depression trauma and abuse, as well as grief and loss issues. Her office is located in Bethel in the Unicorn Flower Shop complex, across from Telstar High School. She plans to open a weekly parenting group in October, as well as after-school groups for children and adolescents. For more information or appointments call 824-8705. (Photo by Alison Aloisio)

THIS PAPER IS FULL OF JOBS

But Maybe You Want MORE Than Just Another Job...

You've got a job now... or you're just out of one... and the best part of your ability hasn't been touched. Will the future be a string of these dead end streets leading nowhere? YOU ONLY GO AROUND ONCE, so why not make it count? We currently have SALES POSITIONS available. Why not switch into a field where your full abilities can be brought into play? If you'd really like a fresh start in a career rather than just another job, call us! If you can convince us that you're a career-minded individual seeking high financial success and that you're better than you've been given the opportunity to show... your job hunting days are over!

Obituaries

ELVA M. McALLISTER

Elva Marshall McAllister, 89, of Norway, died Wednesday, Sept. 27, 2000 at Norway Rehab and Living Center surrounded by her family.

She was born in Brownfield on Dec. 23, 1910, the daughter of Leslie C. and Jean Swan Poor. She attended schools in Brownfield, Cornish, Bethel and Rumford.

Mrs. McAllister worked at the Portland Shipyard during World War II, and after moving to Norway in 1949, she worked at Stone's Drug Store, Luck's Market and W.T. Grant. She had also worked at the Bethel Inn.

She enjoyed gardening, cooking and sewing.

She married Everett Marshall in 1926. She later married Francis McAllister.

Survivors include one son, John and his wife Evelyn Marshall of Norway; a son-in-law, Robert Swan of Chelsea, Mass.; one step-sister, Virginia Walker of Bethel; nine grandchildren; 16 great-grandchildren; four great-great-grandchildren; and the extended family of the late Francis McAllister. She was predeceased by both husbands; a brother, Cecil Poor; two daughters, Marilyn Toher and Elizabeth Swan; and a grandson, Stevie Toher.

Graveside services were held on Sunday, Oct. 1, at Wayside Cemetery, West Paris.

HELEN V. JUDKINS

Helen Verner Judkins, 91, of Farmington, formerly of Dixfield, died Wednesday, Sept. 27, 2000, at her home at 80 Main Street.

Born in New Germany, Nova Scotia, Canada, May 4, 1909, the daughter of Rupert and Naomi (Feindel) Varner, her family moved to Dixfield in 1921.

Mrs. Judkins graduated from Dixfield High School in 1926. She continued her education and graduated from Farmington Normal School in 1928, and earned a bachelors degree in education from Farmington State Teachers College in 1928.

Her 43-year teaching career began in Livermore schools. She later was employed in Hebron, Lovell and Newry schools and in 1974, retired after serving in Bethel schools for 30 years.

Mrs. Judkins was a member of the Dixfield Congregational Church, the Bear River Grange in Newry, the Bethel Historical Society and the Oxford County and Maine Teachers' associations. She was a former member of the Oxford County Extension Service of Dixfield and was a former member of the Zeta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society. She was a life member of the National Teachers' Association.

In 1979, she married Paul A.

Judkins Sr. of Dixfield, Mr. Judkins died on April 7, 1995.

Survivors include three stepchildren, Paul A. Jr. and his wife Cynthia of Farmington, Janice and her husband Edmund Lewis of Farmington and Merton and his wife Carla of Ripley, Tenn.; nine step grandchildren; 14 step great-grandchildren; and two step great-grandchildren; and many cousins from both Canada and the United States.

Graveside services were held Sunday, Oct. 1, at Greenwood Cemetery, Dixfield. Those who desire may give gifts in her memory to the Maine Lung Association, 128 Sewall Street, Augusta, ME 04330.

LAINA ROGERS

Laina (Komulainen) Rogers, 86, widow of Charles P. Rogers of Gorham, died early Monday morning, Oct. 2, 2000.

Mrs. Rogers was born in Greenwood on Feb. 18, 1914, daughter of the late Kalle and Annie (Huotari) Komulainen. She attended West Paris schools and graduated from West Paris High School with the Class of 1932. She then attended the State Street School of Nursing, Portland, where she earned her R.N.

In 1942, she married Charles P. Rogers, and they resided in Long Island, N.Y., Northfield, Mass., and Goodwin Mills.

Mrs. Rogers did nursing duty all of her working career and was active in the churches where she lived. She belonged to the Kalevala Women's Group and the Finnish Heritage Society of Maine.

Survivors include two sisters, Miina Bylander of Salem, N.H., and Elvie Morin of Portland; three brothers, William Komulainen of Daytona Beach, Fla., Toivo Komu-lainen of Goodwin Mills and Hugo Komulainen of Standish; and several nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by her husband and a brother, Alpa Komulainen.

Funeral services will be private. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to Finnish American Heritage Society of Maine, c/o Eva Lundstrom, 12 Hawk Ridge Road, Apt. 1, Harrison, ME 04040.

In Memory of Richard G. Hutchins Murdered Oct. 9, 1992

Remembrance is like a golden chain.
It is treasured more each year
So rich with happy memories
Of one we hold so dear.
It's clasped together firmly
With love that's deep and true.
Time can't destroy the pleasure
The joy of knowing you.
We know you had to leave us.
The choice wasn't up to you
But, as long as memory lives
Our thoughts will be of you.

Lovingly remembered by Mom, Nana & family
